SECTION 47

Section 47 can be characterized as mainly pertaining to the results of the multifaceted approach to be pursued by all field offices. Suspects, lookalikes, dance clubs, swinger's club lists and the like were checked and reported on. Reinterview of [redacted] tipped the Bureau (b)(7)(D) to the possibility that Ray contemplated going to Canada where a passport would be easy to obtain.

As an aid to developing public informant input the Director approved a proposal that Evening Star reporter Jerry O'Leary and the Reader's Digest be encouraged to do a story, using public information and with Bureau approval of the manuscript.
